

THE DEAN'S VISION

The Dean's Society will fund interprofessional projects in three key areas:

- Service Learning and Community Engagement – Projects planned and implemented by CHRP students, faculty and staff will be funded by the Dean's Society to create a lasting impact on the health of our communities. These projects will result in learning outcomes that cannot be realized in a classroom or laboratory.
- Teaching and Learning Innovations – Projects will be funded to encourage CHRP faculty to utilize creativity, collaboration and cutting edge teaching methods to provide students with greater learning opportunities.
- Research – Grants will be awarded to CHRP faculty, staff or students to support pilot studies and small-scale research projects in basic, applied or translational sciences, education methods or clinical practice.

INVEST IN INNOVATION AND EXCELLENCE

As dean of the College of Health Related Professions at the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS),

I invite you to join in our college's leadership in health care and health professions education. The college's Dean's Society was created to provide resources to enhance and strengthen our programs in education, research and service.

Our college offers a growing, diverse array of allied health programs with more than 700 students enrolled in programs covering 17 health professions. Our graduates work across the spectrum of health care, from direct patient care to critical support services.

As a Dean's Society member, your investment in innovation and excellence will promote our continued success. Students and faculty will benefit in their educational, research and service endeavors. Ultimately their professions, patients and health care benefit.

Thank you for generously supporting the College of Health Related Professions. Your investment in the college will help prepare today's students to become tomorrow's leaders in the allied health professions.

Douglas L. Murphy, Ph.D.
Dean, College of Health Related Professions

INVEST IN INNOVATION AND EXCELLENCE

The UAMS College of Health Related Professions (CHRP) is a recognized leader among schools of allied health professions throughout the nation. We are on the leading edge of health professions education due to our use of educational technology, national and international partnerships, responsiveness to health care workforce needs and exemplary student success.

By joining the Dean's Society, you have a unique opportunity to invest in innovation and excellence. The Dean's Society stimulates and supports interprofessional initiatives to build on our existing strengths, foster exceptional achievements and encourage creativity among our students, faculty and staff. Your support will help to build a legacy for the allied health professionals of tomorrow.

A Donor's Perspective

"I was pleased to support the UAMS College of Health Related Professions by becoming the first member of the Dean's Society. Through a matching challenge gift, I was able to encourage others to become founding members of the society. It was rewarding for me to see how my contribution to the Dean's Society was translated into resources for the benefit of students, faculty and staff."
